Lastly, high-impact polystyrene (HIP) is the cheaper option and much like polycarbonate is designed for functions that require enhanced impact resistance ideal for use as a greenhouse glass alternative. Malleable Clear cast PerspexÁ@Á acrylic sheeting is easy to fabricate and can be cut, drilled and shaped to any requirements, so iteÁÁÁs a flexible material to work with. Weather Resistant Clear acrylic sheeting is UV and weather-resistant, as well as being resistant to prolonged exposure to sunlight. Further to this, Clear PerspexÁ@Á Acrylic sheeting also provides up to 92% light transmission, higher than most types of glass, so becomes a preferable option to glass for use in windows or roofing. Up to 10 times stronger than glass our clear PerspexÁ@Á acrylic sheets don€ÁÁÁt show any sign of ageing with continual use, meaning you can expect at least 20 years of use from your clear acrylic sheet without showing signs of deterioration. The cut surfaces can be polished and sanded easily for a more professional finish to your sheeting. Replace broken greenhouse glass with these clear acrylic sheets which are 7x stronger than glass, so can withstand higher winds and ballgames without breaking. All three of our options as an alternative to greenhouse glass panels are lightweight and easier to install than traditional glass.
